

Day of Mourning

160 workers in B.C. lost their lives in 2008
as a result of work-related injury, illness or disease

WE INVITE YOU TO ATTEND

The Day of Mourning was initiated by the Canadian Labour Congress in 1984. Canada was the first country to recognize the day formally and today, 25 years later, the Day of Mourning is observed throughout the world.

WorkSafeBC, the BC Federation of Labour and the Business Council of British Columbia are co-hosting a public memorial to remember lost co-workers, friends and family, and reflect on our commitment to workplace safety.

Family members of fatally injured workers, employers, workers, unions, associations, and government representatives are invited to this event and hear presentations from:

- Paul Straszak, Associate Deputy Minister of Labour and Citizens' Services
- Dave Anderson, President & CEO, WorkSafeBC
- Jim Sinclair, President, BC Federation of Labour
- Andy Smith, President and CEO, BC Maritime Employers Association
- Kevin Molnar, Director, Long Term Disabilities, WorkSafeBC
- Gord Tuck, injured worker and medal winning Paralympic athlete
