Subject: WCB amendment for safety performance assessments

I want to say that from the viewpoint of our construction company that any amendments that would have the employer assessing an employee every two months with a written evaluation will be time consuming and create undue hardship for a small company such as ours as well I am sure as those that are larger. Also, hazards change by the minute sometimes in building construction and if you had to write up all new or younger employees each time, that is all you would be doing, and you might as well go home as you wouldn't be working.

I feel that any regulation such as this should NOT be put into place.
