Attention: Health Care Providers

Subject: Payment of COVID-19 Tests

We have recently received questions regarding the payment of COVID-19 tests for Injured Workers attending WorkSafeBC contracted health care providers. We would like to take this opportunity to remind you that under our contracts for services, every service provider is required to ensure occupational health and safety in their workplace. In addition, your contract for services provides you cannot directly or indirectly charge any fees to the Injured Workers. This means costs incurred in ensuring occupational health and safety in the workplace are not reimbursable costs under the contract and these costs cannot be charged to Injured Workers.
